City Index installs Omnivex powered digital signage

UK based Omnivex partner Asysc implemented a network of screens throughout the London Finsbury Circus offices, UK, of City Index, a leading international trading company. Screens were installed on the trading floor and throughout the office space. The installation also includes and a uniquely configured video wall in the reception area (see pictures).

The goal of the installation was to provide visitors with a visually engaging display of real time stock information. The first thing visitors see when entering the building is the above-mentioned and very distinct vertical "Z" pattern group of bezel-less screens--it should do the trick. Omnivex's Data Pipe 3 software should also help keeping the "real time" part going.
